Lodge Has Taken Post In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam UPI—U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge conferred with American officials today on how to deal with the tense situation created by the government's massive crackdown on Buddhists.

Lodge arrived Thursday night on hurry-up orders from the White House to assume his post in the midst of one of South Viet Nam's gravest crisis. The city that greeted him was alive with patrolling tanks and heavily armed troops and police enforcing martial law.

No new violence was reported in Saigon or other centers of Buddhist opposition that were the scenes of wholesale arrests of Buddhist priests and nuns Wednesday and Thursday. The country was in the firm grip of the armed forces.

Upon his arrival from Tokyo, Lodge declined to comment on the situation until he received a full briefing from American officials on the raids which thousands of troops and police carried out on Buddhist pagodas. Thousands were arrested in the nationwide roundup.

Later Lodge planned to present his credentials to President Ngo Dinh Diem and get the president's version of the crisis. Lodge is replacing Frederick Nolting as ambassador.

Meeting Held By Bainbridge Lions

Wednesday evening the Bainbridge Lions Club enjoyed a fine fried chicken dinner at the Christian Church served by the C.W.F. of that church. After the dinner, President Paul Smith called the attention of the club to the importance of letting the Secretary know if they would be at the dinner meetings. In the future Secretary Jim Reed will mail a double card to all members and all are urged to return the answer so that the Secretary may know the number of dinners to arrange for. He also called attention to the Eye Bank and urged interest in sharing in the promotion of it. One member indicated a previous attempt to share but that problems had existed. President Smith indicated that he would inquire into the situation.

Following these items, Paul Stoner and Vilas Jacks of Ladoga who had recently toured several countries behind the "Iron Curtain" showed pictures of Hungary, Poland and Russia and told of impressions gathered on their trip. Indications were evident of material progress in these countries though wagons pulled by a single horse though built for two, the cutting of grain with a "cradle" and threshing with a very primitive type of threshing machine were noticeable even though some very modern tools and methods were also seen in action. The men both indicated that people in all countries "looked to America" as a goal in their onward progress and development.

Officer Plans To Fight Suspension

NEW CASTLE, UPI—Policeman William McLaughlin planned today to fight his suspension from the force on charges he was guilty of conduct detrimental to the department in connection with a 17-year-old boy's story McLaughlin slapped him.

Police Chief Russell Ocker suspended McLaughlin and said he based his decision on an investigation conducted Wednesday and Thursday by three departmental officers.

The 17-year-old said McLaughlin slapped him after the officer chased and caught him. McLaughlin said he and another officer were called to a tavern Tuesday night and found the boy inside. They said he ran out and McLaughlin pursued him.

13 More Killed On State Roads

Two accidents in Indiana within six hours killed four persons each in a rash of new traffic fatalities which totaled at least 13 in little more than 24 hours and raised the toll to 20 since Wednesday.

Four young persons in their early 20's were killed this morning six miles southwest of Muncie on Indiana 67 when their car tried to pass two big trucks and smashed head-on into a third. The dead were identified as Jackie Swigley, 24, Muncie; Raymond Thompson, 21, Mooreland; Ruth Blankenship, 21, Muncie, and Carol Kidd, about 22, Muncie.

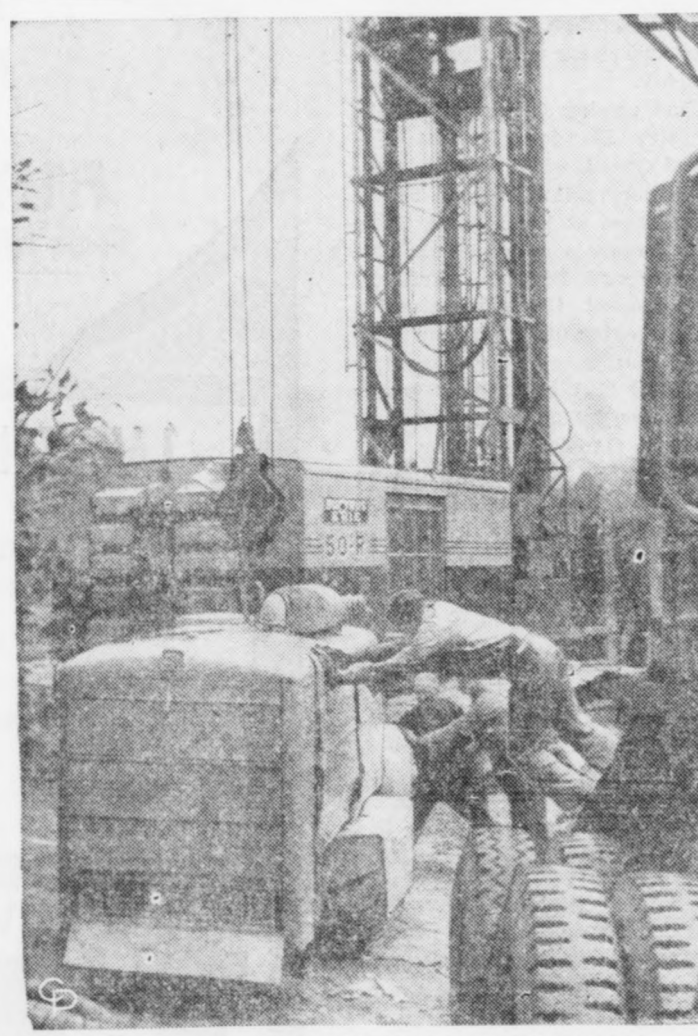

Mrs. Myrna Evelyn McKensie, 42, Arcadia, and three of her six children were killed Thursday night in a collision at the intersection of Indiana 213 and a Hamilton County road near Noblesville.

The children killed were Philip, 11, Daniel, 10, and Mark, 5. Three of their brothers and sisters were injured, Mary Grace, 15 months; Paul, 13, and Michael, 7.

Two persons were killed in a collision in Morgan County and a Columbus woman died in a one car accident at Seymour this morning.

KEEPING AIR GOING TO TRAPPED MINERS—A new generator to provide life-sustaining air for three miners trapped 331 feet beneath the surface in a coal mine is moved into position at Sheppton, Pa. In the background is a high speed drill cutting through rock and earth in an effort to reach the men.

Pact Not In Jeopardy Says Solon

WASHINGTON UPI—A Senate leader conceded today that the split among scientists over the nuclear test ban treaty "could cost a few votes" for its ratification, but he said the pact was not in jeopardy.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said in an interview that the cleavage in the scientific community left "no clear preponderance for or against the treaty."

Fulbright's remarks reflected the surprise of many senators over the divided testimony of nuclear experts on the treaty barring all but underground tests. Dr. Edward Teller, "father of the H-bomb" and a chief opponent of the pact, may be questioned further in closed session by the three-committee group headed by Fulbright.

Teller's attack on the treaty was backed by Dr. John S. Foster Jr., director of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory at Livermore, Calif. But the pact was defended by Dr. Harold Brown, Pentagon research chief, and by Dr. N. F. Bradbury, director of the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory.

The three committees called a closed session today to hear Doyle Northrop, director of the Air Force Applications Center. This was to be followed by a public hearing to take testimony from James P. Warburg, New York financier, and Edwin P. Nelan, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

A split similar to that among the nuclear scientists developed in testimony Thursday. Former Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission attacked the treaty as a "clay pigeon" agreement ripe for Soviet breaching.

But Harold E. Stassen, former disarmament adviser to President Eisenhower, said it was in "the best interests of mankind and thus will serve the interests of the American people in the best sense."

Firemen Battle Bats

Our city firemen didn't have "bats in their belfry" last night, but they did not have bats in their second floor sleeping quarters.

It was reported that one of the firemen started to turn on a light and grabbed hold of a bat. Another bat also made an appearance and things got pretty lively before the firemen exterminated their nocturnal visitors.

Scientists Aid In Efforts To Rescue Trapped Miners

Committee Hears Bobby Kennedy

WASHINGTON UPI—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy was expected to present Congress today with a new version of a proposal to allow the President to withhold federal funds from an area where discrimination exists.

Kennedy planned to submit the changes to the Senate Judiciary Committee which has been studying the Chief Executive's civil rights proposals. According to congressional sources, the main difference from the original measure is new language which would permit states or localities to appeal to the courts when funds are withheld.

Administration lawyers have said the right to judicial review was inherent in the original proposal, but they agreed to nail it down in new language.

Truce Declared At Statehouse

INDIANAPOLIS UPI—The battle of the Statehouse computers which has matched Indiana State Auditor Dorothy Gardner against the administration of Governor Welsh for many months, apparently will end peacefully in a truce.

Mrs. Gardner, a Republican and Indiana's first woman auditor, explained that she has agreed to lease some magnetic tape handlers which will make it possible to interchange data between the two types of computer systems now in use in state government and also in Indiana banking circles.

The Indiana Department of Administration early in the Welsh Democratic administration had sought to convince the auditor that she should abandon her National Cash Register computing equipment, used for check-writing and other purposes.

Mrs. Gardner balked and fought a running battle throughout the legislature to prevent her department from being forced to transfer its computing work to the center and to obtain needed new equipment from NCR.

The announcement of the truce came casually from Mrs. Gardner who said "I've decided to turn in some of my equipment and get some magnetic tape handlers that will make our equipment compatible with that used by the Data Processing Center and American Fletcher."

Bills Bar Service

WASHINGTON UPI—A second bill has been introduced to end the newly established Agriculture Department markets wire service.

Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., sponsored the measure, similar to one by Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif.

It would bar the federal government from owing or leasing wire services in competition with private news services.

SHEPPTON, Pa. UPI—Rescue workers, undaunted by two failures and mechanical breakdowns, drilled an escape shaft within hearing distance of two buried miners today.

"That drill isn't far from us. I can hear it real good," reported David Fellin, 58, by telephone through a six-inch food-and-water shaft drilled earlier.

Louis Marino, 32, Pittston, the drilling foreman, said rescuers expect to complete the shaft by mid-afternoon.

"If we are on target, we should hit the men by 1 or 2 p.m.," he said.

SHEPPTON, Pa. UPI—Atomic science, medicine and the best of mining technology focused today in effort to rescue three miners who have been buried for 11 days.

From a dark and cold cubicle 330 feet underground, David Fellin and Henry Throne took geiger counter readings late Thursday on a container of radioactive cobalt dropped down a drill shaft which had missed their prison.

First findings were reported in a conclusion by Atomic Energy Commission experts, who continued examining the readings. H. Beecher Charnbury, state secretary of mines, promised to decide early today whether to try another such experiment with a new shipment of more powerful radioactive cobalt.

The material used in Thursday night's test apparently was not strong enough to register decisively on the counter. The new shipment, 5,000 curies, was trucked in Thursday night, packed in a three-ton lead container.

Beulah Churns In Open Ocean

MIAMI UPI—Hurricane Beulah aimed her 85-mile-an-hour winds at the open ocean today and weathermen mapped a plan to "seed" the season's second tropical storm in an attempt to break up its power.

The Miami Weather Bureau located Beulah's center at 6 a.m. about 460 miles east-northeast of San Juan, P.R.

The storm was moving in a northwesterly direction at about 12 miles per hour and forecasters said it posed no threat to land areas in the Caribbean.

OBITUARY

Sunset and evening star

And one clear call for me

And may there be no moaning

Of the bar

When I put out to sea.

Unknown in halls of fame

Yet truly great

Our Mother,

Great in the greatest things of life

Generous in kindly Council

Patience and in love,

Unsung in songs—but shined on loving hands

Our Mother

Vada S. Lemallen Lisby, daughter of Sylvester and Alice Arnold Lewallen, was born in Floyd Twp. Putnam County, Indiana, Feb. 27th, 1886.

She died at her home west of Coatesville, Ind., Aug. 8, 1963 at 11:30 p.m., age 77½ years.

She was the 3rd of a family of four children: Mrs. Stella Proctor, Warren LeWallen, and Mrs. Onevia Carlock.

On Sept. 9th, 1906, she was married to Earnest Lisby.

To this union was born two daughters, Iva Harcourt of near Coatesville; Lucille Tincher of Mt. Meridian and one son, Cleon Orville, who died July 12, 1920 at the age of 5 years.

She loved her home and her family and was happiest when they were there with her. She also loved her flowers and her garden. Her friends and neighbors enjoyed seeing her pretty flowers.

"The kiss of the sun for pardon"

The song of the birds for mirth.

She was closer to God's heart in her garden

Than anywhere else on earth.

But failing health kept her from her garden and flowers, but never from her loved ones. She has been failing for several years but these two daughters and her faithful companion cared for her as only loving hands can do and in the quiet of the night—

She silently slipped, thru an open gate at the end of the road,

Thru which each must go alone

And there is a light we cannot see

Our Father claims his own

Beyond the gate your loved one

Finds happiness and rest

And there is comfort in the thought

That a loving God knows best.

She leaves to mourn their loss, her husband, these two daughters and one son-in-law, Eleven grand children, twentyone great grandchildren, two sisters, one brother and several nieces and nephews and many relatives and friends.

At the end of the winding pathway of life.

A gate swings open wide

And there in the dusk, as twilight falls.

She has silently stepped inside.

The gateway leads to a garden fair

She has stepped inside to wait for us there

Shall we doubt our Father's mercy?

Shall we think of death as doom?

Or the stepping over the threshold

To a bigger better room?

Somewhere back of the sunset,

Where loveliness never dies,

She lives in the land of glory

Amid the blue and gold of the skies.

We the family are deeply grateful, and appreciate the kindness of the church and club, for their kindness and sympathy and the many beautiful floral tributes, extended by our good neighbors, relatives and friends.

Earnest Lisby, Iva Harcourt, Lucille Tincher.

Blaydes Family Held Reunion

The Blaydes reunion was held Sunday, Aug. 18, at the home of Grover C. Blaydes, near Bagdad Ky., as it is the annual gathering place of all the Blaydes and "Blades" from near and far. This home was built in the year 1833 on a section of land in Shelby County, Kentucky.

Francis (Gradsir) Blaydes migrated from Chesterfield county, Virginia, in or near the year 1785 and entered homesteaded this land. His son, Francis planned and started to build the red brick dwelling. Before completing the house he died and his courageous wife, Sarah Shephard Blaydes, finished it and reared her nine children there.

The house is still in good repair and is basically beautiful. It's spacious high ceiling rooms and halls, walnut staircase, sparkling crystal prisms chandeliers, giant mirrors and huge fireplaces are proof of a way of life now gone.

Many pieces of antique furniture are still in use. The lovely old carved walnut organ, the love seat and matching chair, high headboard beds and a trundle bed, where generations of Blaydes children slept over the passing years, are still useful items.

The little cemetery in a corner of the front yard is the resting place of James Francis and his wife, Sarah Shephard Blaydes. In the same plot are graves of other members of the family and those of several of their colored slaves.

The few hours spent in reunion, at this historic family home, gives one a sacred feeling of nearness to all those who have lived, loved and passed on to that grand family reunion in that eternal and final home. The generations of Blaydes and their intermarried families go back through the years of two world wars, where many gave their lives; on back through the Civil War and the Revolutionary to a famous ancestor, Francis Scott Key, who wrote our own national anthem. Then taking still another step back in history we are in Bladen County in England where someone had a dream and the courage to make his dream come true.

Today there are Blaydes, and descendants there of, in many states of the union. There have been many successful farmers, school teachers, college professors, doctors, lawyers, musicians, librarians, bankers, auctioneers, ministers and executives. Then in a class of their own, set apart from the rest of the boys I mentioned before. They are the boys who gave up their dreams and their lives for our country and homes so the old "Star Spangled Banner" can continue to wave!

Six states were represented at the reunion this year: Kentucky, Tenn., Mississippi, Texas, Colorado and Indiana. Those attending from Putnam County, Indiana were: Mrs. Sara Blaydes, Bainbridge, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blaydes and family of North Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Riddle of Barnard, Ward Smith, Roachdale, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Quinette and family of Greencastle, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Blaydes and son, Stephen of Reelsville R.R. 1.

An abundant picnic lunch was enjoyed by all, in the shady yard, at one o'clock. A brief business meeting and election of officers followed. All the present officers were unanimously re-elected for the coming year: Cecil S. Blaydes, president, Fortville, Indiana; Sara Seearce Summer, Sec'y. Colonial Heights, Virginia; Carol Young Keck, assistant Sec'y, Roachdale, Indiana.

An interesting, short talk was made by one of the ladies from Tenn. The host, Grover C. Blaydes, expressed his delight and appreciation for the attendance of each person and extended an invitation to each and every one to return again next year.

A letter from former President Harry Truman, who is a descendant of the Blaydes family, was read. Mr. Truman acknowledged his invitation to the reunion and his regret for not attending due to pressing current business.

A good time was enjoyed by all. Each went to his separate home looking forward to the third Sunday in Aug. next year when again it will be a privilege to return to the old Blaydes homestead near Bagdad, Kentucky.

BUDDHIST MONKS hold signs protesting religious discrimination in Saigon, South Viet Nam, during memorial services for the five who burned themselves to death as a protest against policies of President Ngo Dinh Diem. The scene is at the Xa Loi Pagoda, Saigon's biggest.

TENSION FOR HER—Mrs. Louis Bova, wife of Louis Bova, 42, the miner who is injured and isolated by rock fall from the other two trapped miners near Hazleton, Pa., waits tensely for word of rescue operations. She holds their 8-month-old son in her arms. With her is Mrs. Helen Colna, a friend.

West thought of opening the king of spades but decided against it on the correct assumption that South had spade strength and length for his take-out double of one club. The actual opening of the king of diamonds was the first step in a fine defense.
Declarer won in dummy with the ace of diamonds and naturally tried a finesse with the queen of spades. West took the king and returned the queen of diamonds.

RUNS TRUMPS
Declarer now ran his trumps, putting the defenders to the guess. East's first discard was the ace of clubs, signalling control of the suit and also saving a small club for possible emergencies.
When South led the fourth trump West discarded the six of spades and East threw the king of clubs, continuing his policy of watchful waiting.
The next trump was decisive. West threw a diamond, and East no more spades to throw. It was clear that South had started with four spades and only one club. East therefore threw the queen of clubs. It was not safe to discard a spade while South still had a trump with which to regain the lead.

South led his last trump, and East finally discarded a spade. Now if South led a club East could take the jack of clubs and get out with a club, allowing West to take the rest of the opening bid. The Q-9 of hearts is a questionable value.

Stresses Need Of Parents' Guidance

LOS ANGELES UPI — Evangelist Billy Graham used the Biblical story of Samson at a youth meeting Thursday night to illustrate the need of parental guidance.

Speaking at the seventh session of his 21-day Los Angeles crusade, Graham also said that sometimes "over-privileged" children cause more trouble than those from slum areas.

The evangelist told 47,655 persons—the largest crowd to date—that Samson had "a parental problem," explaining:

"Samson's parents tried to advise him and guide him, but Samson was determined to have his own way, to go against his parents' advice.

"Even good parents present a problem to many teen-agers who want to go their own way and live their lives without any interference or advice.

STILL A MYSTERY

HAMMOND, UPI—More than 2,000 man-hours of police investigation of the personal lives of two railroad men, mysteriously slain as they sat at the controls of their diesel engine in the middle of an August night, has only deepened the web of mystery.

Chief of Hammond detectives
Ray Johnson and two of his "top crime experts," assisted by four expert Indiana Harbor Belt Railroad detectives, have worked almost three weeks to track down the Aug. 3 slayer of engineer
Roy Bortoriff, 61, Lansing, Ill., and fireman Paul Overstreet, 45, Hammond.

YESTERYEAR "MARCH" RECALLED—The big Aug. 28 civil rights demonstration in Washington recalls the last big "march on Washington," back in 1932 by the "Bonus Army" of World War I veterans demanding that Congress pass the soldiers' bonus bill. There were bitter clashes with Washington police (upper) and "parades" to Capitol (lower right). Troops were called out, under command of Chief of Staff Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who wipes away perspiration on the scene (lower left). His second-in-command stands with hand to chin, then Col. Dwight D. Eisenhower.
